The JEFMP is a peer-reviewed journal covering theoretical, empirical, and policy research related to all finance topics in emerging and frontier economies. It provides a specialized and leading outlet for academics and policymakers for the dissemination of high-quality research examining issues in the areas such as capital markets, banking and financial institutions, investments, corporate finance, international finance, central banking, and monetary policy in emerging and frontier markets to a wider community worldwide.

The JEFMP publishes articles mainly related to Finance, but also considers publishing articles in any other related discipline such as Accounting and Economics. The JEFMP welcomes high-quality theoretical, empirical, and policy research.
